English& Hindi Reading Competition
Editorial Club

English and Hindi are important languages. To enhance the fluency in reading, laying stress on voice modulation, loudness, clarity, diction and pronunciation reading competition was conducted for classes IV&V. Each student was given a chance to read from the book (supplementary reader) for English and from Hindi book. Many of them were able to read fluently. Some needed help to read correctly. Students were encouraged to ask questions so that they understand the story that they were reading. Three students from each section were declared winners. Such activities will help students to improve and develop interest among the students in the language.
